ASMS Asilomar Conference Advances in Glycomics and Glycoproteomics: Methods and Applications

October 10 - 14, 2014
Asilomar Conference Center
Pacific Grove, CA

Organizers

Yehia Mechref, Texas Tech University
Carlito Lebrilla, University of California, Davis

ASMS Fall Workshop Ion Mobility Mass Spectrometry

November 6 - 7, 2014
Seattle Crowne Plaza
Seattle, Washington

Organizers

Matthew Bush, University of Washington
Alexandre Shvartsburg, Pacific Northwest National Laboratory

recipients also receive complimentary conference or workshop registration.

2014 Sanibel Conference

The 2014 Sanibel Conference “Ion Activation: Fundamentals, Applications and New Frontiers” was held at the Hilton Clearwater Beach Hotel in Clearwater Beach, Florida, on January 30 – February 2, 2014. Organized by Ryan Julian (University of California, Riverside) and Richard Vachet (University of Massachusetts, Amherst) (see the photos below taken during the evening poster sessions), the conference offered presentations on topics ranging from fundamental developments and improved understanding of ion activation mechanisms, including collision and electron-based methods, photodissociation and new hybrid methods, to novel applications in proteomics, metabolomics and studies of gas-phase biomolecular non-covalent structures. A particular highlight of the program was the promoted poster talks given by several post-docs and graduate students who attended the meeting.

Student and Post-Doc Travel Support for ASMS Small Conferences

Generous travel stipends are available to both full-time graduate students and post-docs within two years of their first appointment to attend the ASMS Sanibel Conference, the Asilomar Conference, and the Fall Workshop. Twenty stipends are available for each meeting. Each stipend provides up to $750 for reimbursement of travel and lodging expenses. Stipend
