Important Dates for ASMS 2020:
- January 2 - Housing opens, Conference and Short Course Registration open
- January 15 - Student Travel Awards deadline
- February 3 - Abstract submission deadline
- April 30 - Advance Registration deadline for Conference and Short Courses

The 2019 Analytical Scientist ‘Top 100 Power List’

Nominated by readers and shortlisted by an independent judging panel, the ‘Top 100 Power List’ is published annually by the Analytical Scientist (https://theanalyticalscientist.com/powerlist/2019) to showcase the tremendous range of talent, ingenuity and leadership present across all corners of analytical science on a global scale. Notably, approximately one-third of those on this year’s list are members of ASMS, nearly 50% have authored publications in JASMS, and nearly 20% have or are currently serving on the Editorial Advisory Board of JASMS, highlighting the dominant role and impact that mass spectrometry continues to play in the analytical sciences. Congratulations to all who were recognized for their achievements.

The Nuts and Bolts of Organizing the ASMS Annual Conference Program

Are you interested in learning how 3,300+ abstracts are arranged into the annual conference program? To answer some of the questions you may have, including ‘How are topics for oral and poster sessions selected?’, ‘How are Chairs and speakers of oral sessions selected, and how are the oral sessions arranged in the schedule?’, ‘How are poster abstracts reviewed?’, ‘What are the primary reasons some abstracts are rejected?’, and ‘Why are some oral sessions dedicated in honor of members, and how are these selected?’, a short FAQ may be found at http://www.asms.org/conferences/annual-conference/conference-program/nuts-bolts-of-organizing-conference-program.

ASMS Discussion Group Speaker Travel Awards

The ASMS has allocated funds to support an ASMS-sponsored speaker program, with the objectives to (i) support vibrant seminar programs at local MS discussion groups, (ii) increase exposure of students at non-PhD granting institutions to research in mass spectrometry, and (iii) promote exposure and professional development of young MS professionals at the onset of an independent research career.

Any ASMS member at the rank of Assistant Professor (at the time of invitation) is eligible to receive support, with no more than two sponsored trips per calendar year per speaker. Eligible hosts may be (i) any North American MS discussion group or (ii) any North American non-PhD granting college or university, with no single host to propose more than two ASMS-sponsored events in a calendar year.

Additional information regarding the program, including the application process and eligible expenses (travel, meals, lodging and expenses up to $1500 per event, until the annual budget for the program is exhausted) may be found at: http://www.asms.org/member-center/discussion-groups.
To learn more about the history of mass spectrometry, and ASMS, go to https://www.asms.org/about/history/about-asms-and-ms-history. Here you will find links to a collection of oral histories of scientists important to the history of mass spectrometry, a series of history posters (available for download) illustrating the timeline of the ASMS, historical instruments, and other historical developments, and several history videos including one entitled ‘The First Fifty Years of Mass Spectrometry: Building a Foundation’, presented by Michael L. Gross (Washington University, St. Louis) as a plenary lecture during the 2013 ASMS Annual Conference in Minneapolis.

ASMS is pleased to offer announcements for other non-profit organizations. Please email details including website to info@asms.org.
