3. Summary of Discussion

Overall, we had a rather lively discussion with lots of interaction from the participants. I was rather surprised at how well it went. It was more of a therapy session than a scientific workshop, but I feel the people that attended (room was full!) got a lot out of it. We had very positive feedback from a number of people that attended.

A number of topics were discussed including:

- What is bad data and what is good data and how to tell
- How to charge in a core facility when the data seems not so great

- How to manage expectations and core personnel mental health
- How much time and how to manage SOP's
